PROVIDES COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE PANIC

Senator Overman introduced today an amendment to the Aldrich bill providing for a monetary commission consisting for a monetary commission consisting of five Senators, five Representatives, and five men appointed by the President. The commission is to investigate the causes of the recent panic and the relations of banking thereto and whether abuses exist in trading on margin. It is to suggest such remedies in the way of legislation as it may deem necessary. The commissioners are to receive $625 per month and to employ such experts as necessary. An appropriation of $150. as necessary. An appropriation of $150 000 is provided.

JUDGE M'COMAS' WIDOW IS RECOVERING, BUT SLOWLY

Mrs. McComas, widow of Judge Louis E. McComas, is ill in her apartments at the Westmoreland. Mrs. McComas has been ill a little more than two weeks, and her recovery has been so slow that plans are being made to remove her either to a sanitarium or to Atlantic City, in the hope that she will speedily regain her health.

It is expected that she will be strong enough to be taken away early next week.

URGENT HASTE.

Why Isn't Betting Stopped at Benning? $5 for Best Answer

A Washington citizen, while walking down Pennsylvania avenue today, met a Wise Old Owl.

Said the Washington citizen:

"I've heard a good deal of late about intentions of various people to stop the betting at the Benning track, but I understand the game is still going on. Why isn't it stopped, I wonder?"

Said the Wise Old Owl: "They couldn't stop the race track betting because-"

But the words choked him, and the Washington citizen didn't get the reason.

The Washington Times wants to satisfy the curiosity of the Washington citizen. It will give a prize of Five Dollars to the person who gives the best statement of what the Wise Old Owl meant to say.

Send your answer to the Question Editor, Washington Times. The person submitting the best answer will receive five dollars. All replies MUST be written on postal cards, and contain full name and address of sender. Answers will be accepted until 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon, and the name of the person submitting the best reply will be published in The Sunday Times.

Following are a selected few of to-day's answers: The jay to the owl this question popped."Why isn't betting at Benning stopped?" Said the owl: "The horse is a noble

Said the owi: "The norse is a noble beast,
But you mustn't be forgetting,
To improve the breed,
There's a serious need,
Of enormous and strenuous betting.

The owls you see with pencils and books,

Are backers and bookmakers game,
While the sports wearing spats,
Congressmen with high hats,
Are the boys who are plugging the game."

'Mostly jays play this game, I observe, Mr. Owl," Mr. Owl,"
But the owl, as a matter, of course,
Slyly winked his off eye,
As he said with a sigh,
"It's the jay who's improving the horse."

Edith E. Crygler, 332 Indiana avenue.

"They could not stop the race track from betting, because the track has never betted once. How could it stop?"

Mrs. A. V. Jackson,

10171/2 Seventh street southeast.

While they move, said the owl, With a crow-like caw,
"Tis said they are quite within the law,"
But the 'pull' of the ones who are the betting getting,
Is the reason they can't stop the Benning betting."

The Horton, 2217 Fourteenth st. uw.

"Because the reformers and such couldn't get a whack,
If the betting would stop on the Benning track." W. T. Burdette.
